

I denied certification to a client for technical noncompliance. They just went to another ACA instead and the ACA certified them. What can I do?

If no notice of noncompliance or proposed denial of certification was issued, nothing can be done. However, if a notice of noncompliance or a proposed action was issued, the operation must inform the new ACA about the noncompliance or proposed action, which must be addressed during another application process.

e-CFR